Urinary Catheter Study
Tell us what you think about our research plans

Tens of thousands of people in the UK rely on a urinary catheter and most experience problems with their device.

We are a team of researchers and nurses in the Faculty of Health Sciences at the University of Southampton. We want to carry out research to find out if people who regularly use catheter valves experience less problems than those who use drainage bags and whether more people could safely use a valve.

To help design a research study that answers the questions that are important to catheter users, we need to talk to people who currently have a catheter or have had one in the last year. This would involve a phone conversation (about 20 minutes) with one of our nurse researchers to ask about your experience of being a catheter user.

Your opinion is important. If you would like to help, please contact Dr Cathy Murphy on 023 8120 6552 (answer phone) or email c.murphy@soton.ac.uk to arrange a convenient time for a call.

Your help is much appreciated – THANK YOU
