

Have you (or has someone you know) ever been approached to participate in a clinical trial in the UK?

Do you speak a language that is not English as your main language?

If you answered yes to both questions and are 18 years or older, we invite you to participate in an interview to discuss how recruiters make language-related decisions about who can take part in a clinical trial. We are interested in the perspectives, experiences, and reflections of patients who are speakers of languages other than English on fair opportunities to take part in trials.

The interview will take place online via Zoom, will last 1 hour, and will be recorded. We will give you a £25 online voucher to thank you for your time.

If you would like written information about the study to be translated into your preferred language or a professional interpreter to conduct the interview, please let us know and we will do our best to provide this.

This project is funded by the MRC-NIHR Trials Methodology Research Partnership. To find out details or sign up, please contact the lead researcher, Dr Talia Isaacs: talia.isaacs@ucl.ac.uk; Phone: 0207 612 6348
