

Developing an agreement about the Commercial Determinants of Health with people living in Sheffield, researchers, and Sheffield City Council

We want Sheffielders to take part in a half-day workshop to discuss the best ways of talking about the commercial determinants of health. These are business activities, such as the making and selling of goods and services, that can positively or negatively affect people's health.

You don't need to have any knowledge of this topic to take part, but you must be:

- At least 18 years old
- Live in Sheffield

To apply, please either scan the QR code or contact the lead researcher using the details below:
